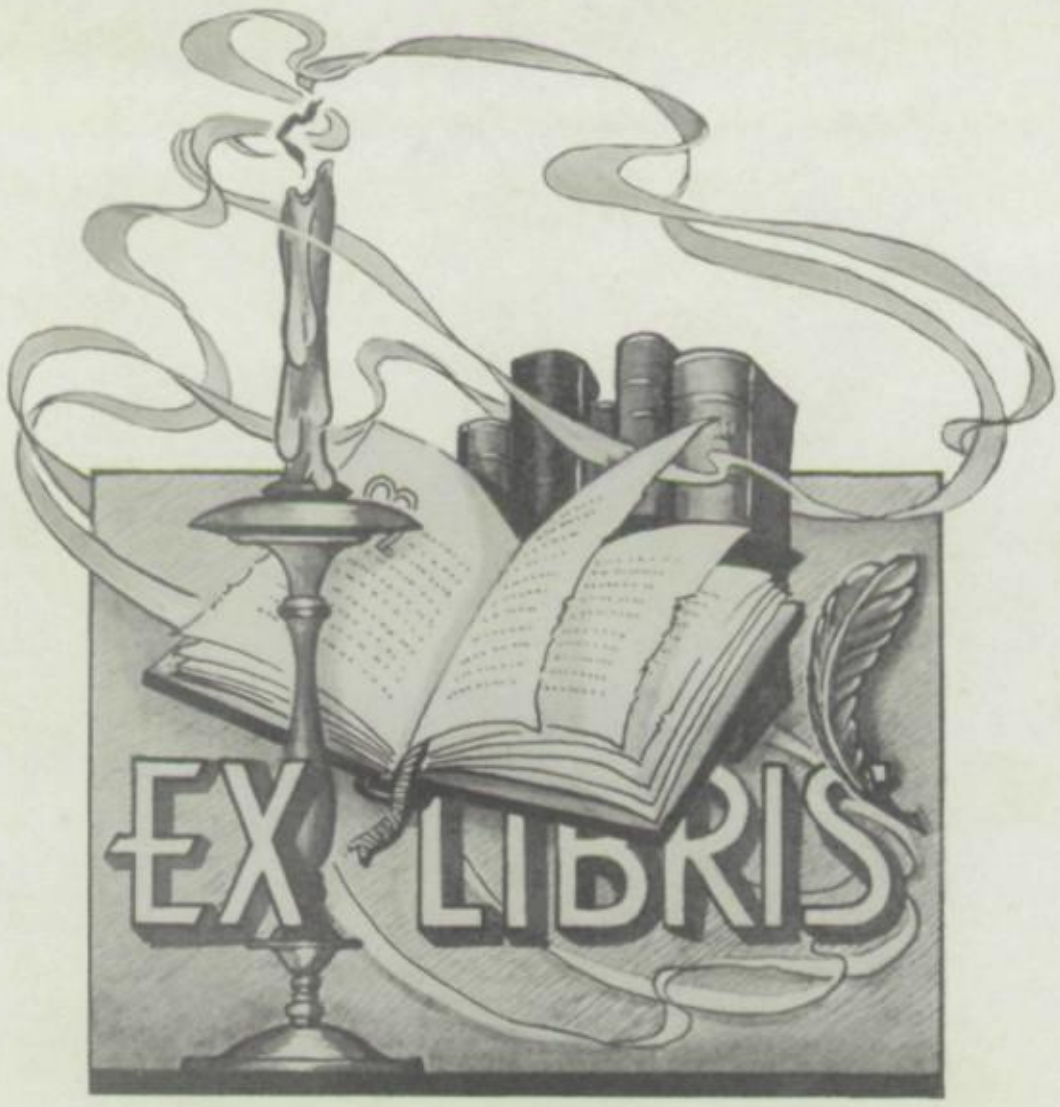
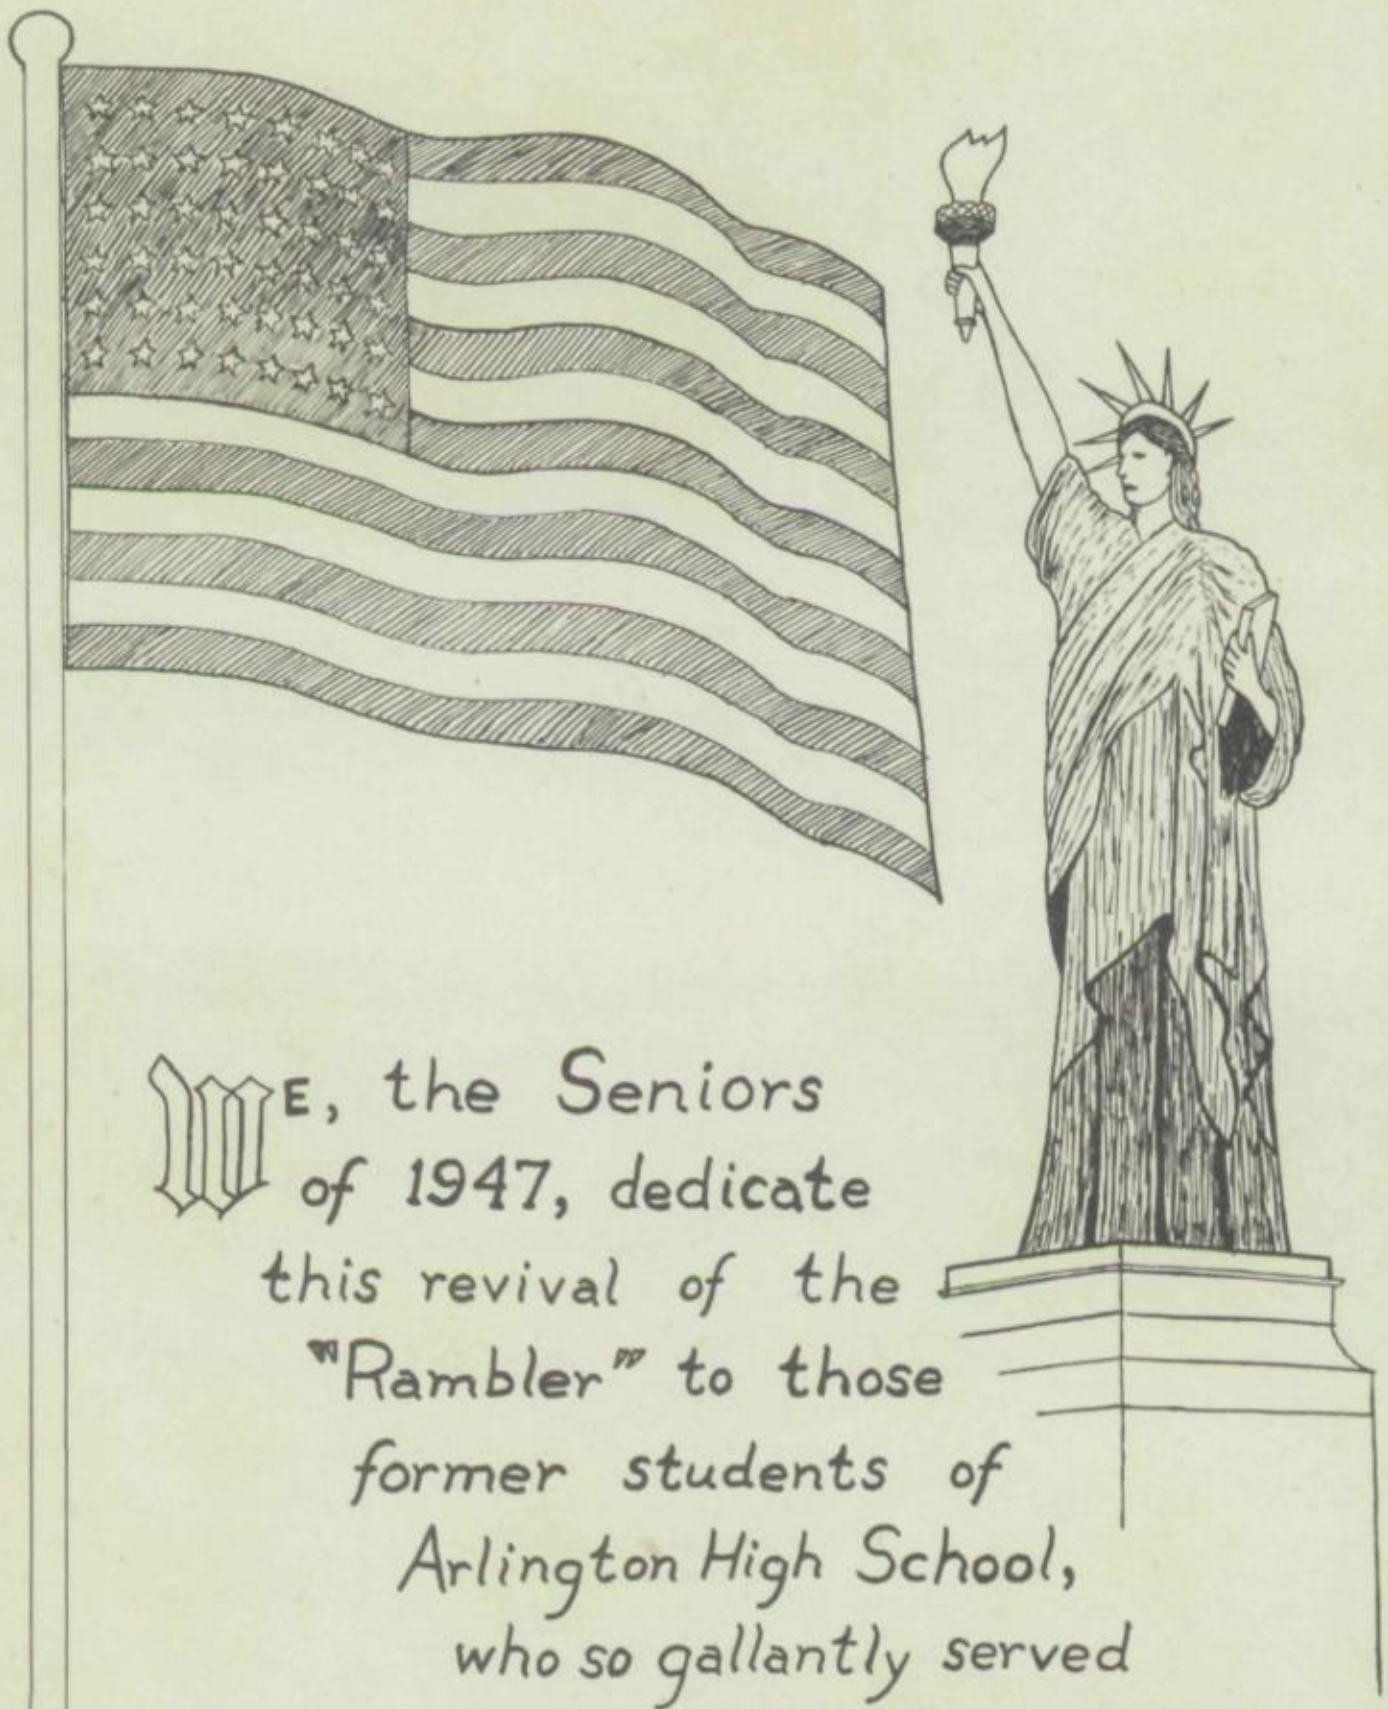
Rambler



EX LIBRIS



WE, the Seniors
of 1947, dedicate
this revival of the
"Rambler" to those former students of Arlington High School, who so gallantly served their Country in the recent Conflict.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

On the night of May 1, 1947, thirteen boys and girls were graduated from the Arlington High School.

We wondered if there would ever be a time when we should all be together again, but no one knew what the future might bring.

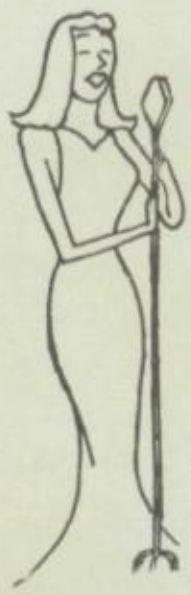
After fifteen years had elapsed, here we were, the class of '47, gathered at the Alumni Banquet. Some were hardly recognizable; others were about the same.

During the dinner no one had much chance to talk, especially John Nelson and John Winslow, who over the years had not lost their love for food. After the dinner was finished, Bobby Dale Gardner, the President of our class of '47, asked if it would not be proper for everyone to tell of his experiences since he or she had left Arlington High.

First in line was John Winslow, who was leading an exciting life running a night-club in Chicago. He had been sloth-like in school, but, when the time had come for an awakening, he had made up for lost time.

Then arose Robert Veatch, known as "Tony Spattz" to the followers of his jazz band. At the present time he had a two weeks, engagement at the Red Ricardo, owned by John Winslow. No one was surprised at being a band leader, because he had played a "hot sax" while in school.

Next came Lois Mitchell, who had led the first ten years of her life as an old maid, but had finally succeeded in getting a diamond out of that certain someone, and had settled to the task of rearing a family.



Rosemarie Orme told of her life. The first five years were spent as a farmer's wife. But growing bored with farm life, she joined Tony Spattz's band, and became a "torch Singer". She is engaged to Tony Spattz.

Joseph Swain arose. He was a professor of mathematics in Oxford, England, and was accompanied by his lovely French wife, known to the acting world as Cheri Fontaine. Along with Miss Fontaine was Rema Cotten, the lovely Hollywood actress, who is starring in "Sunset Over The Sierras".

Bobby Dale Gardner, a nattily attired gentleman, told of his experiences as a traveling salesman, but said the life was too strenous and that he was going to give it up and study to be a violinist.

John Nelson told of the "rough lot times" in Purdue, where he spent his first four years after Graduating from high school. When he had recieved his diploma, he became an agriculture teacher, but tiring of this work, he became the Conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. After a few years he retired to his chicken and dairy farm near Arlington. He is an old bachelor and is probably in the mood for a wife.

Eileen Gardner, a girl who had gained fame far and wide with her exciting and colorful sea stories, had written them mainly to attract the attentions of a certain sailor, who while in the Navy had risen to the rank of Admiral. They had been in the midst of a prolonged engagement when she was heartbroken to find out that he had married a South Sea Islander. She is now the Arlington Telephone operator, and is determined never to marry, but it is probable that she is still on the "manhunt".

Evelyn Hill, a contented farmer's wife, is well known over the state for the blue ribbons she has received for the delicious pies and cakes that she has taken to the State Fair.

Everybody was startled just then by a gun shot! In strode Robert Rouse, an Indiana State Policeman. He said that he had fired the shot to "sorta liven up" the party.

Next came Beatrice Coffin, a neatly dressed lady in black, who had become a missionary to the Far East. Many exciting tales were told by her of her travels in Japan and China.

Johnnie Shauck, a boy who had started out as a garage worker, was now the President of a large automobile parts concern.

The hour grows late, and everyone leaves with a heavy heart. They all know that there probably will never be a time when the class of '47 will be together again.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Four years ago on September 3, 1943, the Airship of Education took off from Airfield Freshman. Our Pilot was Cecil Elliott. The co-pilot was Clarence Gross, and the gunners and radiomen were Claribel Winslow, Ardith Beckner, Anna H. Stewart, Mary Innis, Ralph Fant, and Harold Hardin. On board were the eight crewmen and eighteen passengers. During the flight we landed and picked up two more passengers, Lloyd Henby and Johnnie Shauck. On the flight many storms were encountered, mainly algebra and Latin.

September 1, 1944, we took off from Airfield Sophomore. Six passengers were not able to continue the flight with us; Janet Dearinger, Elizabeth Mc Farland, Robert E. Rouse, Rema Nelson, Leta Sheperd, and Lloyd Henby. We had the same Pilot, Cecil Elliott, but we changed crewmen. Back with us again was Anna H. Stewart, but new ones were on board. Ralph John, William Cunningham, Helen Sewright, and our co-pilot, Miss Townsend. There were many times when the ship lost much altitude on account of Caesar and geometry. On the trip we gained a new member, Eileen Gardner. Only fifteen passengers were left; consequently, we were determined to work harder and make the flight a success.

On Monday, August 31, 1945, we took off from Airfield Junior. Two passengers were not able to continue the voyage, James Six and Ruth Riley; however, we were all glad to have with us again Evelyn Hill, who had left us in the eighth grade. We had a new Pilot, Lawrence Pearl, and a new crewmember, Maybelle Taylor. William Cunningham, Ralph John, Clarice Townsend, and our co-pilot, Claribel Winslow, were back. On the flight we lost Avanell Adkins. Our passengers were losing out all along the way, and the class was growing smaller year by year. There were only thirteen passengers left now.

On August 30, 1946, we ascended from Airfield Senior. This was our last take-off. Again our Pilot was Lawrence Pearl. Four new crewmembers were added; B. Keith Rose, T. P. Potts, Norrene Phelps, and Clara Antle, our co-pilot. Besides Lawrence Pearl, the only teacher able to stand last year's strain was Ralph John. There were very few storms encountered, at least none worth mentioning. We revived a book, called "The Rambler", which had not been in existence for many years. It was quite a success. With all the help we have received from our Pilot, co-pilot, and crewmembers, we think that we have set a goal of success; and we, the class, hope that the succeeding classes will aim at an even higher goal than we have attained.

SENIOR CLASS POEM

Bob Gardner,
A midget is he;
Also Bea Coffin
As little as can be.

But take John Winslow,
A sleepy ole cuss;
And then Bob Rouse
Who isn't much wuss. (worse)

Mr. Johnny Nelson
Likes each little curl
On Miss Eileen Gardner,
A jolly senior girl.

Here is Johnny Shauck,
Who some think is lazy;
Also in his math
He is a little hazy.

Next in line is Evelyn Hill,
Also Rosemarie Orme;
These two are both engaged,
So be watching for a storm.

Mr.Robert Veatch,
A Democrat was he,
Until a pretty Mays'girl
Made him a G.O.P.

We have Lois Mitchell
Who leads us in a yell
About, "We have a team
Which plays like H---." (sh-sh-sh)

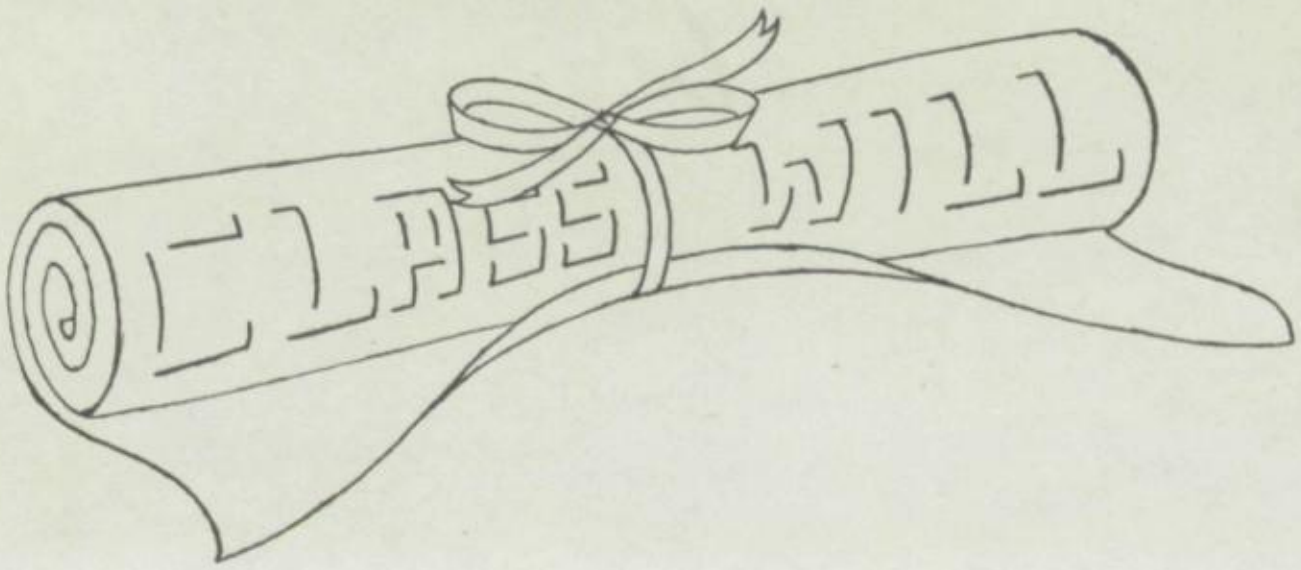
And of course Rema Cotton,
Who cares the most for
A certain young man
In the Army Air Corp.

Last on our list
Is Mr. Joseph Swain;
Because of his antics
He might have been slain.

Mrs. Antle is our sponsor,
Who's helped us this year.
When we have to leave her
We are sure to shed a tear!!!

Another helper we've had
Mr. Pearl is his name;
Although we're quite rowdy
He's helped us just the same.

We,the Seniors of 47,
Are sorry we have to go
From our dear old A.H.S.
To where---we do not know.



The Last Will and Testament of the 1947 Class of Arlington High School

We, the senior class of Arlington High School, Arlington, Indiana, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, being of sound mind and body, do hereby establish, ordain, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

We, the members of the senior class, do will and bequeath the following to the Juniors of Arlington High School:

I, John Winslow, do will my ability for never (???)going to sleep during school to Phillip Cherry.

I, Rosemarie Orme, do will my ability to get a ring on third finger, left hand, to Charlotte Reynolds and my height to Richard Oldham, hoping he can make better use of it.

I, Lois Mitchell, do will my yell-leading ability and former interest in Rushville to Ruth Logan.

I, Beatrice Coffin, do will my position on the Honor Roll to Noel Callahan.

I, Bobby Dale Gardner, do will my big feet to Little Bob Williams.

I, Evelyn Hill, do will my belief in early marriages to Virlin Goforth.

I, Robert Veatch, do will my ability to play basketball to Malcom Fancher.

I, Rema Cotton, do will my ability to love only one man to Grace Faurote.

I, John Nelson, do will my quietness and power of argument to Richard Thrall.

I, Joe Swain, do will my ability of getting out of classes and running around to Verlin Fisher.

I, Eileen Gardner, do will my by height to Donovan Kennedy.

I, Johnnie Shauck, do will my position as student manager and my intelligent look in English Class to Billy Wilkes.

I, Robert Rouse, do will my stubborness and set ways to Myron Hyatt.

We, the Senior Class of 1947, do will our headaches, troubles, worries, and---Oh, yes, fun---to Marvin Becker who must share these gifts with the other members of his class.

We, the Seniors, do will the last row of desks to the Junior Class who, we know, can find very good use for them.

Last, but not least, we do will the good times, the many friends, the lasting knowledge, training in kindness, honesty, helpfulness, courtesy and the a bility to work together to the Junior Class and our good will and good wishes to the faculty of A. H. S.

We hereby make, constitute, and appoint the class of 1948 to be executors of this, our last will and testament.

In Witness Thereof, we have hereunto subscribed our name and affixed our seal, the second day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

This instrument was on the date thereon signed, published, and declared by the said testator, Class of '48, to be its last will and testament, in the presence of us who at its request have subscribed our names thereto as witnesses, in their presence, and in the presence of each other.

A sense of fair play, the will to win, and a high degree of teamwork--all of these qualities were in evidence throughout the year as our representatives in the sports arena rang up records never before attained by any Wildcat aggregation. Champions in softball, they carried the same invincible spirit onto the hardwood and swept through a victorious season. After the regional tourney had worked its way into history, Coach Pearl echoed the sentiment of the entire community when he said, "The boys were behind when the game with Napoleon ended--but that bunch could never be beaten."

Bobby Gardner

The Captain of the team for the last two years. He is a guard who likes to rebound and play under the bucket. He has held the team together very well.

Robert Veatch

Bob was foward this year and was considered one of the hottest shots around these parts. He could usually be counted on for a quick bucket or two to put the game on ice, as he did many times.

Myron Hyatt

Myron is a junior this year, having been a regular for two years on the first team. He is very fast, often leaving the other team in a cloud dust. He enhances our winning games by intercepting passes and shooting his favorite one-handed shots.

Noel Callahan

Callahan is also a junior and a regular; he really goes up into the air when he rebounds. He likes to shoot from the side with his two-handed long shot.

Robert Williams

He is the big boy of the team being six feet, three inches. Bob plays the pivot and does his share of the rebounding. He is tall enough to knock down shots and is a real asset to the team. He will be on the team next year.

John Winslow

John was a sub forward this year, seeing quite a bit of action since he started a few games. He did all right at rebounding and had a natural fake.

Joe Swain

Swain was also a sub on the first team this year. He was substituted freguently for our guards. He liked to shoot one of his long two handed shots at which he was very good.

John Nelson

Johnny did not see too much action this year but could usually be counted on for good rebounding and a bucket or so.

Robert Rouse

Bob played some this year, often taking some boy's place so that he could get a few minutes rest. All of this helps to have a winning ball club.

Tommy Hinton

Tommy played some this year and managed to score all right. You will hear more about him in the next two years.

Marvin Becker

Marvin played as a regular on the second team this year and sometimes dressed as a sub on the firstteam. This is his junior year in school.

Lois Mitchell and Jayne Ann Martin have done a good job this year. They were always out there, cheering the team on to victory, whether we were behind or ahead. Lois has been yell leader for two years and will graduate this year. This is Jayne Ann's first year as yell-leader; she is a freshman.

Softball

On September ninth the Wildcats opened a very successful softball season by defeating Carthage in a close game on our own field, the final score being 7-6.

This was the first of ten victories for the Wildcats, which proved that the the experience they had gained through playing in the league last summer was very helpful.

A series of wins followed:
Raleigh 6-2; Manilla 17-1; Milroy 19-3; Mays 24-1; and New Salem 13-8.

The only defeat of the season came with Carthage by their winning 8-7.

Before the County Tourney we racked up two more victories by beating Manilla, 8-6 and Morristown, 5-3.

Then came the Softball Tourney, in which Arlington drew the bye. The first victim was Carthage, whom they defeated 5-2. This made them elgible to play in the finals that night.

The Wildcats won the title by defeating the Raleigh Sir Walter's 24-9 in the nightcap, this ending a very successful season and bringing home the County Championship Crown.

Sectional Tourney

Thursday evening, February twenty-seventh, opened the 1947 basket ball sectional. There was a full house to see the first toss-up of the tourney.

The first game was played between Milroy and Carthage, Milroy being the victors by a ten point margin, 39-29. The second game was a contest, in which Manilla and New Salem were thrown together. New Salem won by ten points, after trailing the first half.

Friday night turned out a gym full of basketball and people. Three games were played. The first was Arlington and Morton. The Tigers played good ball, but they just didn't have what it takes to down the fighting Wildcats. The score; Arlington, 43-Morton, 34. In the second game Rushville defeated Mays after a slow, hard-fought encounter; Rushville 53-Mays 37. The last game Friday night brought together Raleigh and Milroy, the winner of the first game, with Milroy winning again by a score of 43-40.

Saturday afternoon brought a fine ball game between Arlington and New Salem. We started off in our fine way, but the foes never gave up. Finally, condition and fight brought forth another win for the Wildcats by a four point margin, 41-37. The second game was one that was looked forward to by all good basketball fans of the area. The Cardinals of Milroy met the Lions of Rushville. It was not as exciting as most people thought it would be, but both teams played hard and Rushville finally won; 45-34.

Saturday night people braved the season's worst snow storm to see the Wildcats and Lions tussel for the Sectional Crown. Even though the weather was bad, Memorial Gymnasuium was full to the rafters. The game was the fastest one that was played in the tourney, and the conditioning of the boys was displayed very well. About every thing happened that could happen in a ball game, and with the fightingest crew in the tourney the Wildcats emerged as the new sectional champs with a score of 56-55.

The Wildcats went through the whole tourney and did not have a man to foul out. Good sportsmanship was shown at all times.

In the All-Tourney selections the Wildcats had Veatch, Hyatt, and Gardner. Also in the honorable mention they had Williams and Callahan.

"MY COUSIN FROM TEXAS"

Presented by

The Senior Class

On the evenings of April the seventeenth and eighteenth, the Seniors under the sponsorship of Mrs. Antle presented the play "My Cousin from Texas". The play was based around Shelia's marriage to Preston. However, Shelia still remembered Johnny Benton, whom she has met during her summer vacation. There were many hilarious scenes in the play, due to nearly everyone's trying to prevent the marriage of Shelia and Preston. Comedy was provided by Wilbur, Shelia's kid brother, and two colored characters named Peaceful and Eshew.

Valentine Dance

One of the outstanding events of the year was the Valentine Dance, held February eight at the High School Auditorum. It was sponsored by the Senior Class, who decorated the auditorum in red and white crepe paper. Dean Hodge and the Ten Key-notes provided the music.

The class did not become rich from the dance-(in fact they came out a little in the red, which was not bad considering the sub-zero weather)-but they felt that it was money well spent. Some were even hoping for another in the spring.

Punch and cookies were served from an appropriately decorated table. As the dance was semi-formal, some came in formals and some in street attire; everyone was at ease and had a grand time.

" ANTICS OF ANDREW"

On the evening of October seventeenth, the stage-frightened Juniors presented the first of their two performances of the "Antics of Andrew". The play, a three act comedy, was centered about "Andrew", a college student with a pretended wife and mother-in-law, and his two friends, "Willie" and "Harold". "Uncle Isaac", a gullible old idiot, who had a large fortune, arrived for the birthday party, an uproarious affair. The element of comedy was the conflict between "Petunia", a colored cook, and "Jacques", a French valet

There were so many accidents and tumults that the audience was kept in a hilarious state throughout the entire theatrical performance.

The class presented Mrs. Winslow, the Class Sponsor and director of the play, with a beautiful corsage of red roses.

Entertainment between acts was under the supervision of Mrs. Phelps, the music instructor of Arlington School.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Andrew Brown.....Marvin Becker
Althea Thorne.....Ruth Logan
Willie Waldo.....Noel Callahan and Myron Hyatt
Harold Hadley.....Richard Thrall and Richard Oldham
Miss Prunella Thorne.....Charolette Reynolds
Jacques.....Malcom Fancher
Petunia.....Philip Cherry
Dean Boynton.....Robert Williams
Julie Boynton.....Masine Pea
Betty Boynton.....Grace Faurote
Isaac Zimmerman.....Donovan Kennedy
Reverend Doolittle.....Verlin Fisher

A kind old gentleman, seeing a small boy who was carrying lots of newspapers under his arm, said: "Don't all those papers make you tired, my boy?"
"Naw,-I don't read'em," replied the lad.

Reginald, nineteen years old, had, against the wishes of his noble parents, married a young woman of the chorus. Just after the ceremony, in telling a friend how to break the news to his father and mother, he said, "Tell them first I am dead; then gently work up to the climax."

"Are you going to broadcast your speeches."
"I haven't decided," answered the senator. "I don't like to divide attention. I've noticed that when a speech is put on the air instead of saying, "Wasn't it a wonderful speech?" everybody says, 'Isn't radio a wonderful invention?

They were not exactly the friendliest of neighbors, and one day the following note came from Jones to Smith:
"Mr. Jones presents his compliments to Mr. Smith and asks will he kindly shoot his dog as he keeps Mr. Jones and his family awake.

Whereupon, Smith returned the following note:

"Mr. Smith presents his compliments to Mr. Jones and begs to inform the latter that he will be glad to shoot his dog if Mr. Jones will poison his daughter and burn her piano."

A witness insisted that a certain person, who was incidentally connected with the "daxe in hace," was absent-minded. The prosecuting attorney therefore pressed him for an illustration of what he meant by absent-mindedness.
"Well," said the witness, cautiously "I should say that a man who thought he had left his watch at home, and took it out of his pocket to see if he had time to go home and get it--why, I should suspect that feller was absent-minded-like."

"Have you a speaking acquaintance with that woman next door; "asked Mrs. Jones.
"A speaking acquaintance:" replied Mrs. Banks, "I know her so well we don't speak at all."

A certain train on a Southern railroad had been late every day for years, but one day it gasped into the depot exactly on the dot. The marveling passengers got together and made up a handsome purse for the enginer and presented it to him with an eloquent speech, commending him for being on time at last.
The engineer refused the purse sadly, saying; "Gentlemen, it breaks my heart to do this, for I sho' do need the money. But this heah is yesterday's train."

John, aged six, was told that he had to go to the hospital to have his tonsils removed, and his mother was bolstering up his morale. "I'll be brave and do just what you tell me, Mother," he promised, "but I betcha one thing; they don't palm off no crying baby on me, like they did when you were in the hospital."

Johnnie was gazing at his one-day old brother, who lay squealing and yelling in his cot.
"Has he come from Heaven?" inquired Johnnie. "Yes, dear."
"No wonder they put him out."

A small boy was sitting on his father's knee, watching his mother as she painfully went through the very delicate operation of doing her hair in that most becoming wave effect.
"No waves for you, Pa," said the infant philosopher as he fondly polished his parent's bald head, "You're all beach."
